Compilation of legal norms

1. In accordance with Commission on Human Rights resolution 1994/68, in which the Commission encouraged the Representative to continue his compilation and analysis of existing rules and norms relating to internal displacement, the Representative draws the attention of the Commission to document E/CN.4/1995/CRP.1 containing the work completed thus far in this respect.

2. This document, which is preliminary in nature, includes the two papers undertaken at the request of the Representative by three institutions (the Ludwig Boltzmann Institute for Human Rights (Austria), the American Society of International Law (United States) and the International Human Rights Law Group (United States)) which were reviewed at a meeting of legal experts in Vienna, in October 1994.

3. The Representative plans to present a complete version of this work to the Commission at its fifty-second session.
